JellyBeanz	Website: http://www.jellybeanz.org.za/ Does not have a specific curriculum. Presentation does not follow a specific format. Uses 'Our Bodies' book – “Jelly Beanz has launched an activity book to assist parents and teachers to initiate discussions with young children. ‘Our Bodies’ promotes education and understanding regarding issues of sexuality and body safety so that caregivers and children are empowered to make positive and informed decisions.” Sexuality and Abuse Awareness Programme for Children (Grade R - 1) – The programme does not follow a set outline and does not have predetermined set content. The presenter/facilitator must be mindful of and responsive to the needs of the particular children in the “audience”. This means appropriate topics are chosen and discussed in a “organic” way. Topics are selected from and presented in line with Jelly Beanz’ “principles” for engaging children in meaningful conversations about sex and sexuality. “Jelly Beanz has embarked upon a project that provides children in Grades R and 1 with a 12-session programme that involves basic information on healthy sexuality and on what child abuse is all about. Armed with this basic knowledge, their vulnerability to inappropriate behaviours or relationships could be vastly decreased.”	Our Bodies book. Patch	Website: https://www.patchhelderberg.co.za/ The PATCH Prevention and Awareness programmes are used to raise awareness and educate children, youth and parents in the communities in Helderberg with the highest prevalence of child sexual abuse. With children, PATCH focuses on awareness, prevention, and treatment (where necessary) and typically visit schools, churches, and other organisations. PATCH does not do sex education. Children Prevention and Awareness programmes aim to teach children and youth about the dangers of child sexual abuse, information about my body, the right to say no etc. Children are taught about good and bad touch, good and bad secrets and what to do if sexual abuse occurs. Children are told about the process following disclosure, who they can tell and where to go for help. Depending on the age of the children the programme will be adapted to include age appropriate information with regards to specific problems children of that age might encounter. Material is selected according to the needs of a particular audience. E.g. if PATCH was invited to speak on a specific topic. Content is adapted to suit the audience (taking into account attendee age, community context, etc.). Parents are empowered with parenting skills and knowledge about the effects of sexual abuse on a child and different ways of dealing with the resulting trauma. Parents are encouraged to report abuse and support their children through the lengthy process following an incident of sexual abuse.	PATCH provides programmes for adults (parents) and children. The programmes do not necessarily follow a set outline when working with children. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - 8 Week Parenting Programme. - Children's Prevention and Awareness Programme. CFJ will provide access to the outline of the programme sessions (adults) and themes (children) upon receipt of signed Terms of Use.	PATCH's prevention team works with all ages, preferably those who have started school, Grade R - 12.	PATCH has been operating on a donation basis - whatever the school or organisation is able to contribute towards PATCH. PATCH does not have a set fee in place but would require payment to cover the costs of the facilitators. The Prevention Services Programme is school based and does not include any costs in the Helderberg area. However, PATCH does accept donations because it is a non-governmental organisation. The Parenting Programme is a funded programme, i.e. a donor must be sourced to enable PATCH to present it. The necessary funding arrangement is normally negotiated in a discussion between the parties involved.	PATCH works very closely with teachers, caregivers, parents, and neighbouring NGO's. PATCH would be able to provide them with information on how to handle possible sexual abuse cases however, since PATCH's programme is not accredited, they will be unable to train anyone to continue the programme. This is because PATCH's prevention team is run by their social workers, who have ongoing specialized training in child sexual abuse and who manage a team of facilitators to assist with the roll-out and facilitation of these programmes.

Protective Behaviours	Website: https://www.pb.org.za/ PB is neither Sex Education nor Sexuality Education. It is a Life Skills Programme, which does cover a number of the topics included in (or related to) the Department of Basic Education's Comprehensive Sexuality Education learning material e.g. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Emotional well-being (self-understanding and empathy with others); • Human rights with particular focus on the right to feel safe; • Problem solving and communication skills; • Establishing support networks in the community and how to use them when feeling unsafe; • Public and private behaviours (teenagers may include sex, masturbation, kissing, hugging boy/girlfriend, on their lists of private behaviours, in the teen session) NOTE: PBSA does not do sex and sexuality education. It teaches behaviours that protect children from sexual abuse. PBSA does not encourage children to be sexually active and does not raise the topic of sex and sexuality unless a child does. If a child mentions sex, masturbation, etc. the facilitator will acknowledge it as something that is private and that happens in adult relationships. Depending on the age of the child, the facilitator will cover what the law says about the ages when sex become legal. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Body awareness and body ownership including the use of correct terminology for all parts of the body, not only the public parts – we do not explore 'what they do with their bodies', we focus mainly on the 'ownership' of their bodies; • The right to defend a person's personal space; • The difference between Safe and Unsafe touching and how to respond to unsafe touching. Protective Behaviours provides training opportunities for teachers and adults/professionals. See training opportunities and requirements. CAVEAT / DISCLAIMER: Although Cause for Justice does not formally endorse Protective Behaviours, much of its content, for example in relation to safe and unsafe touching, would be valuable information for individual child protection organisations, social workers, psychologists, educators, parents etc. to use or incorporate in their child protection programmes.	PB is delivered to primary schools using a Session Plan Manual (16 Focus Areas, 88 pages), with more than 40 worksheets for children, delivered to groups over a period of one school term, 35 to 45 minutes per week. While the age range is quite large, the nature of the worksheets is such that the teacher selects a worksheet (each session has multiple worksheets to pick from) that is age and developmentally appropriate for the particular group. CFJ will provide access to the Session Plan Manuals upon receipt of the signed Terms of Use.	PB offers training programmes for various age groups: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Pre-school - Primary school - Teenage (11 - 16-year olds) PB also offers training programmes for adults. https://www.pb.org.za/index.php/training/	The session plan is R200 and the activity sheets (included in the manual) can be photocopied. If PBSA presents the lessons to learners (as opposed to the educators presenting it), the fee is around R200 per child for the entire term (8 - 10 weeks). Cost per school for educator training including up to 25 participants = R18,000. Practitioner Training: R1,300 pp (the cost includes the R200 Manual).	If PBSA does the programme with the children, over 8 to 10 weeks, they offer a free information session for parents and for staff. A requirement of this mode of delivery is that the class teacher is part of the group. The fee is around R200 per child for the entire term. PBSA training to teachers to deliver the programme to their classes involves a 12-hour workshop (they can accommodate after hours training). The practitioner training consists of 12 hours over two days. The practitioners must become members of PBSA at a cost of R50 per annum. Practitioners are required to report about their work with children (including ages/demographics etc) to help PBSA build a database for future reference and possible funding opportunities.
